CementFlex Cement Sleeve

CementFlex is a radical new product which improves readymixed concrete batch plant efficiency and reduces running costs dramatically. It is an intelligent solution to the long standing problem of batching cement into truck mixers. Unlike traditional sleeves, CementFlex has been designed solely for cement batching.

CementFlex is a moulded, seamless, semi-rigid 4mm thick tube which is flexible enough to locate into the truck, yet also retain a tubular shape during operation. It will not compress when aggregates are being batched which prevents blockage and speeds up cement feed rates. Truck loading times are significantly reduced, cement and aggregates feed simultaneously for better mixing and dust emissions are suppressed.

For efficient concrete production

Reduce truck loading times

Highly abrasion resistant

Retains tubular shape during loading

Easy clean, non-stick finish

Less waste, less downtime

Manufactured from industry leading Hawiflex® synthetic rubber, CementFlex offers maximum abrasion resistance to extend service life. It is site proven to cut spare parts costs and maintenance downtime. An ultra smooth surface finish minimises cement adherence for user-friendly easy cleaning. CementFlex is popular with batchers and truck drivers as it helps them get the job done with minimum hassle.

Designed to suit most standard batch plants, CementFlex is available in a standard size of 220mm diameter x 1200mm long. For the lowest cost truckmixer loading chute system, combine CementFlex with the new TruckFlex dual-layer charge chute. See our website for details.
